DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The specification is objected to because of a missing page (Page 6) within the specification.

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 9-10 and 26-27 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 1-7, and 16-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Aviv (US 6,028,626).
5. As for claim 1 and 16, 17, Aviv teaches of means for observing behavior in a predetermined area under surveillance (Column 3, Lines 21-55); means for processing an output of observed behavior from said means for observing, said means for processing including a pattern recognition means for recognizing whether said observed behavior is associated with predefined suspicious behavior (i.e. potential crime); means for notifying that said pattern recognition means recognizes at least one behavioral pattern associated with said set of predefined suspicious behaviors has been observed by said means of observing (Column 9, Lines 38-45).

6. As for claim 2 and 18, Aviv teaches of said means for observing includes cameras (Column 4, Lines 64-67).

7. As for claim 3, 4 and 19, 20, Aviv teaches of said means for observing includes sensors, and said sensors sense sound (Column 5, Lines 15-19).

8. As for claim 5, 6 and 21, 22, Aviv teaches of said means for notifying includes warning signals communicated to a monitoring site, includes a plurality of alert codes corresponding to a severity level of said at least one behavioral pattern associated with said set of predefined suspicious behaviors recognized by said pattern recognition means (Note: The invention shows different responses depending on the situation (i.e. light or dark) and also gives a multitude of different possible responses to criminal activity detection, Column 9, Lines 23-37).

9. As for claim 7 and 23, Aviv teaches of wherein said area under surveillance includes a retail store, and said predefined suspicious behaviors recognized by said pattern recognition means includes recognizing a plurality of people entering the store as one group, said plurality subsequently separating into sub-groups in different portions of the store, and re-emerging as said one group when leaving the store (Note:

Art Unit: 2613

shows the capability of separating the group and then following each individual (Column 9, Lines 41-54), Column 9, Lines 1-10, Column 10, Lines 17-31 (shows retail store)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claims 12-13 and 28-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aviv (US 6,028,626). Aviv does not explicitly teach of said pattern recognition means further comprises recognizing that a particular shopper is carrying a bag, and manipulating the bag, however, Aviv does teach of a zoom capability that can focus and follow objects and determine patterns of them (Column 5, Lines 55-67, and Column 6, Lines 1-29). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the zoom capability of the invention to focus in on objects other than people because the subsequent action of an object (i.e. a gun or knife) is an immediate indication of suspicious activity.

12. Claims 8, 11, 14, 24-25, and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aviv (US 6,028,626) in view of Brill (US 6,628,835). Aviv does not explicitly teach of the following, however, Brill does: pattern recognition means including recognizing that a particular shopper has walked up and down a predetermine number of aisles without selecting an item for purchase (i.e. loitering which is defined as standing still or walking with many stops along the way), pattern recognition means including recognizing that a particular shopper has spent a predetermined amount of time in the store without selecting an item for purchase, a predetermined area outside of said store, and said pattern recognition means recognizing when a person is in the predetermined area outside of said store for a predetermined amount of time (Note: Loiter is used by Brill to determine if a person has been inactive for a certain amount of time and if so then an alarm is activated, Column 7, Lines 6-24, Also note that it is considered an obvious variation to look for inactivity inside or outside the store). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to take into account the idea of loitering because it is considered suspicious activity by Brill and Aviv allows for all suspicious activity to be accounted for in his invention.

13. Claims 15 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aviv (US 6,028,626) in view of NMSU Police Department. Although Aviv does not explicitly teach of pattern recognition means recognizes that a particular shopper is wearing a coat when an outside temperature is greater than a predetermined value, the NMSU Police Department does (Under "What is Suspicious Behavior" the article reads "wearing heavy clothing in warm weather"). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to take into account the idea of wearing a heavy coat in warm weather because it is considered suspicious activity by the NMSU Police Department and Aviv allows for all suspicious activity to be accounted for in his invention.
